

BUSINESS CONTINUITY DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

American Portfolios Financial Services, Inc. (APFS) and American Portfolios Advisors, Inc. (APA) are providing you with this document to inform you of its ability to respond to certain business disruptions at your financial professional's local office or at the main office of American Portfolios (AP). Your financial professional is associated with American Portfolios and, as a result, all transactions that you place through him or her are processed through American Portfolios systems. American Portfolios' ability to respond to business disruptions is therefore important to your relationship with your financial professional.

In general, American Portfolios maintains a business continuity plan and intends to continue business in the event of a significant business disruption. American Portfolios is an introducing broker-dealer and, as such, it relies on its correspondent clearing firm to perform certain functions on its behalf, including the execution of securities transactions and the maintenance of customer funds and securities. Accordingly, American Portfolios' ability to respond to certain business disruptions is partially dependent on the clearing firm.

In the event of a significant business disruption at either the local or main office, American Portfolios may route calls to an office location in a separate geographic location and, if necessary, transfer operations to a facility maintained by a third-party vendor. Although American Portfolios intends to continue business in the event of a significant business disruption, there are some disruptions that may render the Firm or your financial professional unable to continue business. Under such circumstances, American Portfolios will ensure that clients will be able to access their funds and securities within a reasonable time.

To provide clients with up-to-date information during a significant business disruption to your financial professional's local office or the main office of American Portfolios, clients may call the firm in Holbrook, N.Y., at (631) 439-4600 or visit the website at www.americanportfolios.com.

I. American Portfolios' Response to Events of Varying Scope

The following sections describe specific events and American Portfolios' corresponding general response to those events. Clients, however, should note that these responses are subject to modification and, depending on the severity of a specific event, American Portfolios cannot guarantee that it will be able to follow the stated course of action. If these responses are modified, American Portfolios will post the updated disclosure statement on its website. In the alternative, you may request from your financial professional that the Firm send you, by mail, a copy of the updated disclosure statement.

Under the following scenarios, American Portfolios intends to continue its business:

A. A Disruption to a Single Building or Firm-Only Business Disruption

These disruptions may be caused by physical damage, technology problems or an inability to have personnel arrive at an office. In the event there is a significant business disruption to a single building or the firm's internal primary systems, American Portfolios may, if necessary, transfer its operations or route incoming calls to another office in a separate geographic location. From this separate location, American Portfolios will accept client orders. In this process, clients may experience a minor delay in reaching the firm due to increased client calls, technology delays or other minor difficulties arising from the transfer of operations. American Portfolios expects that operations could be disrupted for up to one (1) hour. If American Portfolios' trading platform is affected, there may be a more significant delay. American Portfolios, however, will be able to place order outside the trading platform.

B. A Business-District, Citywide or Regional Disruption

In the event there is a significant business disruption that affects the business district, city or region where any of the firm's primary systems are located, American Portfolios may, if necessary, transfer its operations or route incoming calls to another office in a separate geographic location. In this process, clients may experience a minor delay in reaching the firm due to increased client calls, technology delays or other minor difficulties arising from the transfer of operations. If the disruption is significant, American Portfolios may transfer its operations to a third-party service provider. In addition, if the clearing firm is affected by the business-district, citywide or regional disruption, clients may experience additional delays. Nevertheless, American Portfolios expects that operations could be disrupted for up to four (4) hours.
